

Enhance Access to a Global Automotive Supply Chain

Meet the demand of the rapidly evolving automotive industry with SIRIM QAS's IATF 16949 certification scheme.

The standard outlines requirements for a quality management system unique to the automotive industry. It provides a framework of continuous improvement to consistently meet customer requirements, while enhancing efficiency by reducing waste and defects in the supply chain.

Certification is also key to unlocking new business potential as manufacturers and trade associations have made it a pre-requisite for suppliers to be certified with this scheme.

As a recognised IATF certification body, SIRIM QAS is ready to help industry players in the ASEAN region strengthen their capabilities to compete in domestic and global markets. Get certified today
